

Noi instrumente educaționale folosite în învățământul superior

Title: New educational instruments used in higher education

Abstract: Today's technology, though, offers students all kinds of new, highly effective tools they can use to learn on their own. The rapid technological progress influences the methods and possibilities of learning and teaching. This paper presents some of the WEB 2.0 technologies and new Google programs that help students and teachers in their activities. This article presents multimedia tutorials achievement and their characteristics.

Keywords: education, Google programs, multimedia tutorials, software, web 2.0.